
MRS. THAW, FOR HUSBAND'S SAKE, WILL SACRIFICE SELF WILL TEST CASE TO COURT TO AD HIS CASE

Young Millionaire Slayer of Stanford White Is Hard at Work on His Defence.
HIS COUNSEL HUMOR HIM

By Boston American Special Writer.
NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Mrs. Thaw has prepared the defence which she expects to present in court. It is working day and night, and she is in the cell of details which strengthen his position.

Young Thaw has told in the work, and has told her husband and his lawyers that he is ready to offer himself as a sacrifice to save her husband at whatever cost it may be to her personal comfort.

At the conference with Delphin Michael, Thaw's new counsel, told him that he would rather die in the electric chair than to let her husband be hanged.

It did what was right and what was good for a woman, Thaw would have done when a young man, Stanford White, told her that he would be hanged by her.

According to a carefully arranged plan, Mrs. Thaw, Clifford W. Hurd and his associates have never anticipated any of Thaw's actions on justification. He allowed to have his own way, and believe he is master of the situation.

It is said in the Thaw case, that he has taken part in more than a dozen law suits, and that he is now in the hands of the law for the killing of Stanford White on the basis of a plot.

Thaw at the proper time will be called as a witness in the case, and he will be asked to explain the story he told on the afternoon of the killing.

Thaw's own speech and manner will show the jury that he is a man of honor, and that he is ready to sacrifice himself for his wife.

It is expected that the case will be heard on Monday next, and that it will be a sensational trial.

OWNERSHIP LEAGUE SCORES THURSTON AT ODDS WITH G. O. P. LEADERS

Adopt Resolutions Condemning
Cambridge Mayor for Failing to Keep Pledge.

Resolutions were adopted by the "Cambridge League" to hold the late of the league last night in C. I. U. Hall, condemning Mayor Thurston, candidate for reelection for repudiating his pledge to further public ownership of public utilities in this city. Nothing has been done by him in this direction, it was pointed out, although he was nominated at the primaries as one on a municipal ownership issue, being an advocate of municipal ownership.

Mayor Thurston was communicated with by president of the league, Augustus Sawyer, and given an opportunity to explain his position. In reply, Mr. Thurston said that he had not repudiated his pledge, but that he had been misled by the league. He said that he had been misled by the league, and that he had been misled by the league.

During the discussion, Mr. Thurston was asked by a member of the league, "What are you going to do about it?"

Mr. Thurston replied, "I am going to do what I can to keep my pledge." He said that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge, and that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge.

Mr. Thurston then said, "I am going to do what I can to keep my pledge." He said that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge, and that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge.

Mr. Thurston then said, "I am going to do what I can to keep my pledge." He said that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge, and that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge.

Mr. Thurston then said, "I am going to do what I can to keep my pledge." He said that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge, and that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge.

Mr. Thurston then said, "I am going to do what I can to keep my pledge." He said that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge, and that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge.

Mr. Thurston then said, "I am going to do what I can to keep my pledge." He said that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge, and that he was going to do what he could to keep his pledge.

Who Will Be Our Railroad Emperor?

His Empire Will Be Powerful, Rich, Exceeding in Grandeur
Many Empires Deed

We recommend to our readers, especially to men interested in politics and to editors of newspapers, an admirable book written by Professor Frank Parsons of Boston, published by C. T. Taylor, of No. 1520 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, and called, "THE RAILWAYS, THE TRUSTS, AND THE PEOPLE."

For those who haven't time to read a book of five hundred pages we present here a few facts and suggestions.

We want the four or five millions of men and women who read our newspapers to understand the railroad question, in an elementary way, at least.

Do you know, for instance, readers, that we will soon have in this country a RAILROAD EMPIRE, UNDER THE HAND OF ONE GREAT RULER OF RAILWAYS, WHO WILL BE AN EMPEROR INDEED?

It is hard to convey thoughts with figures, but we shall give you a few that are closely bound up with YOUR lives and YOUR interests.

The railways of the United States would go TWELVE times around this earth, the locomotives and railroad cars of America would make a string stretching from the North Pole down to the South Pole, leaving enough to make a necklace around the South Pole and enough more TO HANG DOWN TWO THOUSAND MILES INTO SPACE BELOW THE POLE.

These roads carry in a year seven hundred million passengers and thirteen hundred million tons of freight. This is about nine railroad rides for every man, woman and child in the United States, and thirty-two thousand pounds of freight for every man, woman and child.

There are other figures just as amazing, but they might be a little indigestible.

In the way of money, you know that our railroads are capitalized at more than thirteen thousand millions of dollars, more than one-seventh of ALL the wealth of the United States.

Now about that railroad emperor who is going to be with us some day.

The Railway World says that five men rule the railways of the United States. Certainly the complete number of men with controlling power in the railroads of the country does not exceed SEVEN. The seven are: John D. Rockefeller, A. J. Cassatt, George J. Gould, W. K. Vanderbilt, J. P. Morgan, E. H. Harriman and James J. Hill.

Harriman, Gould and Hill are probably more powerful than all the others combined—EXCEPT THAT ROCKEFELLER WITH HIS THOUSAND MILLIONS LOOMS ABOVE THEM MORE POWERFUL THAN ALL PUT TOGETHER—FOR NOT ONE DARES OFFEND OR DENY HIM WHAT HE WANTS.

Which particular man is to be THE RAILROAD EMPEROR? Which will rule the thousands of millions of capital and all the millions of citizens that depend on the railroads? It is hard to name him. The strongest, fighting, concentrated railroad man to-day undoubtedly are Gould, Harriman and Hill. One of these probably will be emperor, with old Rockefeller, if he LIVES, standing behind his back and RULING the emperor.

Mr. Paul Morton, Mr. Ryan's agent in the Equitable Life Insurance Company, once said, in a lecture before Chicago University:

"I do not view the ownership of all the American railroads by a single company or interests with the SLIGHTEST alarm."

Probably HE does not.

But how do the PEOPLE view it? What do the PEOPLE think of the possibility of a railroad empire, with every railroad in the country his, EVERY FARMER, EVERY BUSINESS MAN, EVERY INDUSTRY ENTIRELY AT HIS MERCY?

You wouldn't like to have some big, intelligent microbe in your body, controlling all YOUR veins and arteries. Such a microbe could send all the blood into one leg and none to the other, AND THEN YOU WOULD BE A ONE-LEGGED MAN.

Or it could keep the blood from going to your brain AND THEN YOU WOULD BE AN IDIOT.

What YOUR veins and your arteries ARE TO YOUR BODY THE RAILWAYS ARE TO THE UNITED STATES.

And the railroad emperor who will one day control the railroads of the United States UNLESS THE PEOPLE THEMSELVES CONTROL THESE RAILWAYS will have the nation entirely at his mercy.

You know what this railway emperor would possess TO-DAY in the way of men and money?

He would have coming in every year an income of one thousand nine hundred and sixty-six millions of dollars, WHICH IS THREE TIMES THE INCOME OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT.

And he would have under him as employees, DEPENDENT UPON HIS GENEROSITY OR FAIRNESS, one million three hundred and twelve thousand directly on his pay rolls, and as many more dependent upon him INDIRECTLY.

WE TALK about the power of centralization in government.

YOUR RAILROAD EMPEROR WILL HAVE DIRECTLY UNDER HIS CONTROL six times as many employees as are now under the United States government, including all the men in the army and navy.

Are these figures not amazing, readers? They are important, even if they are NOT amazing.

It is well for you to think them over. It is well for you to know that these railroads which control the welfare of the nation ARE DRIFTING MORE AND MORE INTO THE HANDS OF ONE SINGLE RAILROAD EMPEROR.

It is well for you to realize that the industries of the nation must be at the MERCY of the railroad emperor.

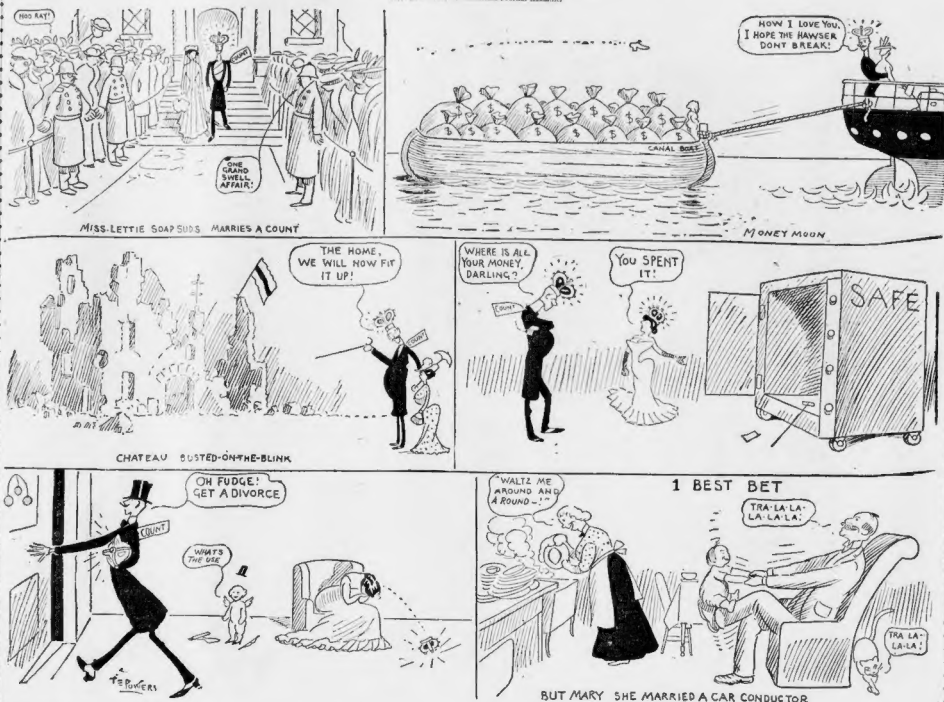

It ought to be plain to you all that the question of ownership by the nation is not far off and that the question of CONTROL BY THE PEOPLE is an immediate one.

We repeat that editors of newspapers and those interested in questions of national importance would do well to study Professor Parsons' book, of which we have given the title above.

She Points Out the Right Way and the Wrong
Way of Assisting the World to More Progress

In the course of a sympathetic discussion of the good work done for the cause by the Suffragettes in London at a meeting of a woman's society for political study, Mrs. Cory, a prominent advocate of female equality, gave a definition of the Utopian dream which woman years ago and must not rest until she has realized.

"Knowing, as I do, our ideals," said Mrs. Cory, "confident as I am that we shall attain them, I fit my gaze upon the brightest vision of a woman's life, and I see a woman on trial for her life will be defended by a female lawyer, convicted by a female jury, sentenced by a female judge, conspired by a female captain, and executed by a female executioner. Then, and not until then, will she have attained her proper place in the world.

"For their efforts in this direction that grand day, we extend our gratitude and sympathy to our sisters across the sea, also, Miss Billington and her noble band."—London Mail.

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

THESE are extravagant and hysterical utterances, such as bring discredit upon the cause of Woman Suffrage.

It is a misfortune for the world that such speeches are reported and given wide publicity, for they can in no way express the sentiment of the large body of womanly women who are interested in enlarging the sphere of usefulness of our sex. They are simply the overflowings of one woman's imagination, which has carried away the dams of common sense and discretion.

The ideals of the speaker above quoted are surely not those of such noble women as Julia Ward Howe, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Miss Anthony, the three great leaders in the work of giving woman an equal chance with the enfranchised negro and the immigrant who has received his papers of naturalization.

That a woman should be able to cast a vote and help decide the laws which govern the race, that she should have a voice in the making of laws, which will be for her own and her children's good, is a result to be devoutly wished for by every reasoning, sane mind, but to hope for a time when a woman will act as executioner—God save us from the thought even.

A woman is the cradle of her unborn race.

Her thoughts are moulding the thoughts of her child, and upon her state of mind during the prenatal period depends to a remarkable degree the future of her child.

Woman's Power

It is to be hoped that women will have a voice in making laws restricting this evil.

But when she does fully realize her power in the world she will not identify herself with any movement which turns her thought toward murder.

She will not pursue the chase for recreation, nor will she seek the position of executioner to prove her prowess.

The greatest influence she can wield will always be through her consciousness. It is a more potent power than anything the franchise can do.

But when she adds the franchise to her womanly qualities and directs her intuition and her refinement and her character toward bettering the conditions for rising generations, the world will be truly blessed.

It is a more potent power than anything the franchise can do.
